OUR CORRESPONDENTS.
Get the news and get all the news and nothing but the news.—From David's Celebrated Maxim in Journalism.

Grover Cleveland and Judge Gresham, of Indiana, is a ticket that the Democrats can win in 1892.

It is reported that Adj't Gen. Sam. E. Hill is a prospective candidate for Congress from this district.

Ex-President Cleveland presided at the S. S. Cox memorial meeting held in New York last week. Hon. J. Proctor Knott did himself proud as orator of the occasion.

Journalism is reported as saying that the Patriarchy will nominate Grover Cleveland for President in 1892, and that he can see no possible way by which Mr. Cleveland can be defeated.

The Commission appointed by Postmaster General Wanamaker to look into the workings of the Chicago post office, report that the building and facilities for handling the mails is inadequate. It recommends that the building be enlarged.

John Sherman has gone over into Ohio to help the Republican party out in their present campaign. Forster and Sherman are about the toughest pair in the old Republican deck, and they will manage to carry Ohio for their party by some means.

Official statements from the Pension office at Washington, shows that during the months of July, August and September, 1883, the number of original pensions granted was 1,000. During the corresponding months for the present year there are 13,560.

Circuit Court sits at Hardinsburg next Monday. The civil docket is larger than usual, a great deal of it having been brought about by the railroad, a character of litigation which we have had to deal with before. The criminal docket contains nothing of much importance.

Toucous the question of good county roads, the News will from time to time venture a few remarks as to their importance and whether called for, not believing ourselves to be in a position to say what necessarily requires public attention. For the last ten years we have continually studied to this matter, and invited discussion through our columns, but it doesn't appear that much has been accomplished. Our county roads need attention. It is the duty of our citizens to give the matter some thought and devise means to improve public travel.

If you want your boys and girls to love home, then make home the pleasantest place on earth to them. It is the disposition of all to want to go where there is pleasure, and if you have a boy or girl, the sweetest or prettiest home that he does his home is the spot to be because the former is more inviting than the latter. Every home should be made a perfect paradise where health, love, peace and happiness should dwell. The poor as well as the rich may have this. It is not a stone to move, a fractured ceiling or Axminster carpet will not mar the most inviting. Pleasant faces, kind words and neatness make the happy homes of our country. Madeline Hustler.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., the home of Benjamin Harrison, went Democratic the other day in a municipal election. Thomas L. Selfridge, was elected mayor of the city by a majority of 1,000. The Democrats also selected a majority of the city council, and it is believed that the houses are about to get straight again on politics. Take the Republican money out of Indiana and there is no fair of the State ever being lost to the Democrats, but it just always happens that when we need the State the worst goes to the other way. Those walls of delusion are set on the State by Democrats in 1884, and this year we are told from Indianapolis doesn't strengthen our faith much, as to what the result may be for us in 1892. Indiana will bear close watching.

THAT man's days are numbered who monkey's with an electric wire

James Cleveland has declined the nomination to succeed Hon. S. S. Cox in Congress from New York.

THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT CONVENTION AT WASHINGTON, D. C., LAST MONDAY. THERE ARE OVER ONE THOUSAND CASES ON THE DOCKET.

The French people were much enthused over it.

In his forthcoming report to Congress, Postmaster General Wanamaker, recommends that the mail service be discontinued so far as a number of small towns can be embraced in it that have not been provided for. Owensboro, Henderson and Bowling Green are mentioned in the list. Clerviewport is not down but she may need such a thing by the time Congress meets.

TUX MADISONVILLE ITEM SAYS: "Nothing appears to be done in this town that will support home industry, and the men that has to leave town every time he wants to spend a dollar, just as well as live out of town for the good he does the town. Every legitimate industry should be encouraged by home people. This must be done in order that a town may prosper. If the people in other towns would spend their money here, then the world would be equalized, and no harm could come of it; but when other towns get more of our money, then we do of theirs, then they become richer and we become poorer."

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB held a meeting in Fisher's Hall Monday night, and appointed committees to bring in the vote of the members. The election will be held tomorrow and it is the duty of every citizen who has the welfare and prosperity of his town at heart, to go to the polls and cast his vote in favor of this enterprise. It is the beginning of a new era for this city. The building of these shops here means a city of several thousand inhabitants, a very large number of whom will be employed to large numbers of hands. But our people fully appreciate the advantages these shops will be to the town, and there will be no trouble about the result. We do what of theirs, then they become richer and we become poorer."

Coughing

[Dr. Sam M. Budle, special correspondent of the Courier Journal, was one of the party that made a special trip over the Louisville and Falls Creek Road to see the new hospital. No man's expectorant or cough medicine is equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It assists Nature in expelling the mucus, allays irritation induces rest, and is the most popular of all cough cures.]

"Of the many preparations before the public for the cure of colds, bronchitis, and kindred diseases, there is none, within this range of my experience, so well deserved as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For years I was subject to colds, influenza, and rheumatism. Not until I took Ayer's Cherry Pectoral did I get well. In a week's time my nose stopped up again, and kept this preparation in the house, and the complexion became more clear and the skin more elastic."

"A few years ago I took a severe cold which affected my lungs, and a terrible cough continued night and day without sleep. The doctors gave me no relief, and I was compelled to travel, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and restored the rest necessary for the recovery of health. Since then I have used the final use of the Pectoral, a permanent cure was effected."—Horace Fairbairn, Rockwood, Tenn.

JAMES R. McNALLY.

A 16th-stink sketch of "Jim" McCreary, the local roamer. Portraits of McCreary must be done in oil. He is as uncouth to the eye as a well-groomed deacon, and as smooth to the touch as velvet. He sheds exults as a duck does water. His warm, passionate, questioning hand is as eloquent as a man of words can speak. His tongue is coated with a sweet, sticky, tasteless, appealing creos to swim in bowls of delicious ping. Every word seems to have been dipped in some salacious fluid. His bones do not grate when he walks. His joints are fed with lardum. He glides through the streets as noiseless as though he travelled on solid roller skates. His eyes gleam like a lightning bolt, his lips are a flame, his heart a furnace, his soul a fire. His hands are a pair of scorching coals, his feet are a pair of scalding steam. His heart is a burning furnace, his soul a seething cauldron, his life a hellish inferno.

He is the politician par excellence, a manipulator of men, a diplomat whose pliable surface reflects only the rudeness of his character. He is the question boy extraordinaire. With a gold-headed cane, swinging, confident, defying the ravages of time and over and over renewing his political life with an elixir whose golden fountains works wonders than the scintill of Brown-Sequard ever dreamed of.

I.V.

JAMES A. MCKEEUNE.

A breath of fresh air blown from gardens where bright things gladden and fair things grow; that is "Jim" McCreary's personality. He is as vivifying as a young sunbeam, and as bright as a summer's day. His heart is as pure as a child's, and his eyes are as clear as a child's. His smile is as gentle as a mother's, and his laugh is as gay as a child's. He carries his heart upon his sleeve; not for daws to peck at, but that the world may see a novelty, the very pulsing of a heart that has no guile. His wit is as ready as Joe Blackburn's without its fire. His mind is as clear as a child's. His greeting is as warm as McCreary's without its mechanical feature. In contrast, at the bar, on the stump, before a picked convention or via-vis, with a friend, the wizard with his tongue can send a fact home with the hammer of fancy, or dash upon the palate of heart as ten o'clock a.m. should dash upon a poet from a poet's brain. What a splendid, wholesome, jolly, able fellow he is! Without pride, without envy, walking humbly where his duty calls, there is not one in public life to-day who is his superior in natural gifts, in acquired talents in personal charm. His party has had the first call on his services, and his friends have never turned him down. He is a true son of Kentucky, the time cannot be far distant when Kentucky will grant "Jim" McCreary a higher recognition.

The biggest thing out is what the druggists term Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup; its sales are enormous and it has never been known to fail. Price 25 cents.

It is hard to remember that the old fashioned colds and neuralgias have been speedily cured by Salvation Oil. Price 25 cents a bottle.

We'll, Now, Who Would!

Those most westerly are the most generous folks on the planet. The wife of an Indian chief recently presented him with a pearl and a bolo-necked boy.

And yet that Indian didn't look happy.
